

IMDS Basic Training

Training Description

In the workshop, the system IMDS will be presented and training will be conducted with focus on general procedures and working with the system.

The initial, purely informative presentation explains the history and the strategic background of IMDS and hence representatives from purchase, sales and probably from the management should participate. Thereafter the basic principle of the system IMDS will be explained.

During the second part, the user part, all required working steps up to sending generated material data sheets will be explained in detail, and trained extensively by way of examples. Supervised by the workshop trainer, the participants will enter product data into the HP training system and this way learn how to effectively work with the system.

tec4U User Trainings

tec4U offers tailor-made IMDS user trainings in respect to your company's individual needs in German or English language. You can choose between in-house trainings at your company or trainings in rooms provided by tec4U.

As an alternative to the conventional face-to-face courses, tec4U provides additional web-based trainings. This allows teaching participants worldwide without time-consuming journeys. The trainings effect by web conference and by phone.

After the workshop, you will receive a certificate verifying your acquired IMDS knowledge. In addition, we provide free of charge support for upcoming questions until six months after the training.
